What are the top baby girl names for 2020

What's in a baby girl name? It can be challenging to choose the perfect name for your daughter but luckily, there's plenty of inspiration out there to help guide this important decision, whether you go for a classic, sweet girl name or a cool and unique moniker. A great place to start your baby name search is the Social Security Administration (SSA), which releases a list of the 1,000 most popular baby names for girls and boys every year. The list below references SSA data from 2020. Here, browse the top 1,000 baby girl names for inspiration (or to see if your little one's name made the list!). Top 1,000 most popular baby girl names: Olivia, Emma, Ava, Charlotte, Sophia, Amelia, Isabella, Mia, Evelyn, Harper, Camila, Gianna, Abigail, Luna, Ella, Elizabeth, Sofia, Emily, Avery, Mia, Scarlett, Eleanor, Madison, Layla, Penelope, Ariana, Chloe, Grace, Ellie, Nora, Hazel, Zoey, Riley, Victoria, Jly, Aurora, Violet, Nova, Hannah, Emilia, Zoe, Stella, Avery, Isla, Leah, Lilian, Addison, Willow, Lucy, Paisley, Natalie, Naomi, Eliana, Brooklyn, Elena, Ashby, Claire, Ivy, Kinalee, Audrey, Maya, Genesis, Skylar, Bella, Ashlynn, Madelyn, Savannah, Anna, Delilah, Serenity, Caroline, Kennedy, Valentina, Ruby, Sophie, Alice, Gabriela, Sadie, Ariana, Allison, Hailey, Autumn, Neveah, Natalia, Quinn, Josephine, and more. The SSA compiles their list of the most popular baby names for boys and girls every year using data from U.S. Social Security Card applications. The most recent data available is for 2020, which the list above references. Baby girl names that are rising in popularity: From 2010 to 2019, the most popular baby girl names remained the same: Emma, Olivia, Ava, Isabella and Sophia were the top names every single year, varying exact rankings in the top five. But in 2020, a new contender made the top five. Charlotte clinched the number four baby girl name, pushing Isabella down to spot seven. (Amelia took the number six spot in 2020, moving up one place from the year prior.) Meanwhile, Olivia, Emma and Ava remained the first, second and third most popular names for baby girls respectively for the second year in a row. Names that end with the letter 'A' are a popular choice for many parents in 2021. Other popular baby girl names include Mia, Camila and Gianna. The rest of the list is filled with classic and modern baby girl names alike, from Elizabeth to Nova. While the top three baby girl names have remained the same since 2016 (Emma, Olivia and Ava in varying order), other girl names are on the rise. The name Charlotte, for example, went from number 46 in 2010 to number four in 2020. The name Gianna, too, rose from number 79 in 2019 to number 12 in 2020. The names Evelyn and Camila have also been on the rise in recent years. It's clear that unique baby girl names are also popular. From 2019 to 2020, the names that increased most in popularity were all rather unique, perhaps suggesting that not-so-common baby girl names will continue to be popular in 2021. For example, the name Caeli jumped 689 spots, Haskay surged 383 spots and Wynsley rose 310 spots. Other trending names for baby girls include Anyah, Denisse, Jaianna, Kinahla and Ziani. Baby girl names that were popular 100 years ago: The SSA's list of the most popular baby girl names looked a little different back in the 1920s, when the top 10 featured Mary, Dorothy, Helen, Betty, Margaret, Ruth, Virginia, Doris, Mildred and Frances, in that order. Also popular in the 1920s: Names starting with 'E' (Elizabeth, Eleanor, Edna, Edith and Ethel) were all in the top 50, names starting with 'M' (in addition to Mary, Margaret and Mildred, Marie, Marjorie, Martha and Marion were popular choices) and shorter names ending with 'E' (such as Alice, Irene, Rose, Louise, Annie and Grace). Still, sometimes a name will come back in style. Emma, for example, was the thirteenth most popular girl name in 1900 and remained popular in the 1920s. It bottomed out at number 463 in 1976, but is now in the number two spot.
